

EXERCISE

Follow the examples to prioritize the backlog for your product. Use a business value scale of 1 to 100 and give each story a business value. Then prioritize based on business value. You may have to reprioritize later based on other factors but this will generally get you going in the right direction.